This was the first time we had camped at Fish Eagle camp site. We arrived at camp and Johnny, Sandy, Ginger, Ruth had arrived earlier in the day. Johnny had advised that it had rained when they arrived. Gianni and Sally had arrived just before we arrived at camp. When we arrived at camp it was very cloudy. We found a nice tree to camp under and unpacked quickly in case it started to rain again. Luckily some sun appeared. The campsite is nicely grassed with clean ablutions and sanitized regularly. There are two sites which you can camp on. We camped on the further site which was nicer as it had a few trees. The camp has a nice pool, which has a nice wooden covering over the pool and a river where you can canoe and fish. The owners advised that there are fish eagles and owls which unfortunately, we did not see. There is a lovely view from the camp site of the surrounding mountains and olive trees. The owners sell olive oil and olives in season. They have guest cottages on the farm and a separate pool for the guests. The owners are very hospitable and came to greet us. Sally celebrated her birthday at camp on the Friday night.

It rained in the early hours of the morning, however by the time we got up the rain had stopped and it turned out to be a nice day.

On Saturday Ginger and Ruth went into town and others stayed in the camp. We all sat around and rested at the campsite and went for a nice walk and later in the evening everyone got together for the communal braai, which was great. It turned out to be a lovely evening. The stars were amazing.

On Sunday, the weather was nice and hot. Some of us packed up mid-morning and in-between packing up everyone had a swim. Gianni and Johnny practiced their diving skills. Gianni and Sally left, then Johnny and Sandy, Greg N. and Joe and Cheryl left late afternoon. Ginger and Ruth stayed on for another night (lucky them). They were the only ones left in the camp.

Definitely a nice camp to go back too. Nice and relaxing.

No fines this weekend.
